

School of Population Health & Clinical Practice

Discipline of Public Health

Current Public Health Doctor of Philosophy Students

Surname	First Name	Thesis Title
Avery	Jodie	Mental Health and its influence on help seeking behaviour for incontinence
Bessen	Taryn	Defining the Optimal Imaging Surveillance of Women in Complete Remission from Breast Cancer
Hadwen	Georgina	Role of Emergent and Urgent Communications Technology in Public Health Knowledge Sharing for Specific Target Populations
Rosenow	Adam	Developing a Quantitative Model to Evaluate Obesity Interventions
Xafis	Vicki	Ethical and Legal Acceptability of Data Linkage in Health Services
Widayati	Aris	Restructure the Pharmaceutical Policy to Ensure Available and Affordable Access to Essential Medicines in Indonesia
Habibur	Seraji	Audit of Neonatal Deaths to Improve Community-based Care in Rural Bangladesh
Rahman	Muhammad Aziz	Tobacco Control in Bangladesh
Palipane	Wajira	Research topic description: Respiratory Health and Fire Fighters
Mnatzaganian	George	Development and Implementation of Evidence-based Indicators for Measuring Quality of Joint Replacements: Emphasis on Infections
Liu	Xiao Hui	Harmful Effects of Workplace Airborne Hazards
Doda	Diana	Evaluation of Interventions Addressing Workplace Musculoskeletal Disorders
Berry	Jesia	Vaccine Assessment Using Linked Data (Valid): The Technical Aspects of Data Linkage for Vaccine Safety Surveillance
Merlin	Tracy	Health technology assessment methods for evaluating diagnostic tests: a comparison of methodologies for assessing "rule-in" and "rule-out" triage tests.
Turczynowicz	Leonid	Volatile Hydrocarbon Modelling and Development of Soil Health-Based Investigation Levels
Avery	Jodie	Depression and its association with the psychosocial factors of urinary incontinence
Larg	Allison	Effective Strategies to reduce the cost of overweight and obesity to South Australia
Miller	Caroline	Public health communication and cancer prevention

Speight	Esther	Autonomy in patient self-management
Chittleborough	Catherine	A life course approach to the role of socioeconomic position in determining health risk and health status, and its measurement in population surveillance
Oprea	Liviu	Technology and Trust in General Practice
Pratt	Nicole	Medication prescribing in the elderly and the effect on health related outcomes
Savic	Michael	Exploring the Fit between Mental Health Needs of Cald Women and the Australian Health System
Liu	Xiao	Non-invasive measures of lung inflammation in occupational exposed workers and patients with occupational lung disease
Hamza	Hasan	Epidemiology of Breast Cancer
Yelland	Lisa	Statistical Issues Associated with Binary Outcome Data in Randomised Controlled Trials
Anikeeva	Olga	Changing Disease Patterns amongst Migrants: A Focus on the National Health Priority Areas
Jahan	Nasreen	Evaluation of Occupational Health and Safety Education Intervention among Young Workers towards a Conceptual Model of OHS Education for Australia
Hansen	Alana	Risk assessment for environmental health in Adelaide based on weather, air pollution and population health outcomes
Champion	Stephanie	Maternal and child health
Oprea	Liviu	Health technologies for self management: an ethical appraisal of the impact of self management technologies on the physician-patient relationship
Smith	James	Men's help seeking behaviours and health service use
Zhang	Dapeng	MSM and AIDS in China
Parsons	Jacqueline	Mortality and cancer incidence of Australian Atomic Test participants
Hillgrove	Tessa	The impact of haemoglobin deferral on the subsequent donation behaviour of blood donors
Steele	Emily	An epidemiological investigation into the role of economic uncertainty in delayed childbirth
King	Rosie	Case study exploration of the vulnerability of disabled people during their transitions from hospital to home

Updated last Oct 2009

