

South Australian Medical Heritage Society Incorporated

The focus of SAMHS is the recognition, recording and preservation of all items of medial significance.

Such items include:

- Text books
- Medical casenotes and records
- Photographs
- Instruments and equipment
- In fact, any item related to the practice of medicine that is of interest or significance due to its application, derivation, or history.

Some members have their own private collections whilst others are connected with hospitals or medical teaching organizations.

Special interests include nursing, obstetrics, pharmacy, anaesthetics, psychiatry, general practice and most branches of surgery.

Links are maintained with related interstate and international groups.

Exhibitions are staged to display items preserved by member individuals and organizations.

Meetings are held regularly throughout the year with site visits and guest speakers on a wide range of topics of relevance and interest to our members.
