

HDA Women's Excellence in Research Award 2025

Goals:

To recognise and celebrate excellence of research achievement by women working in the field of developmental health.

To raise awareness of and support career development for women mid-career researchers.

Eligibility:

Open to HDA women mid-career researchers with 5-10 years post PhD undertaking basic or clinical, biomedical or social science research in developmental health, resilience or disease in pregnancy, infancy, childhood or adolescence.

Open to paid members. Membership is $30 (excluding GST) for 1 year or $60 (excluding GST) for 3 years <https://health.adelaide.edu.au/healthy-development-adelaide/get-involved>

Selection process:

Applicants will submit a 300 word abstract describing their research focus and demonstrating the significance and impact of their research.

Applicants will also submit a 300 word statement addressing "How my research is relevant to improving the health and wellbeing of children and/or adolescents"

Applicants will submit a current CV with track record of research achievements and research opportunities

, role working within larger teams (3 page maximum).

The HDA Executive Committee will assess all submissions and the successful applicant will be chosen to present their research at a HDA lecture event this year.

The successful applicant will be presented with a certificate and awarded $1,000.

Funding conditions:

Payment will be made to a nominated institutional project code provided by the successful applicant.

Applications will close at 5.00pm Friday 14 February 2025.

Late applications will not be considered.

Submit applications to anne.jurisevic@adelaide.edu.au